

Franklinites,

I hope you are mostly healthy and energized for the week after a radiant weekend. Thinking about climate — our gorgeous one in early fall, and its fragility on a grander scale— I begin the week in gratitude to you. For making good use of our spaces, and for your activism and your care. I see you.

If you are new to Yale, or newly challenged by what to do in this place, I urge you this week to reach for engagement. What's one thing you could devote a little time to that's larger than yourself?

Toward this end I'm starting a reading group. We'll meet twice a month in the Cafe, over snacks, and discuss a topical article or two. Given my bent as a journalist they'll be focused on contemporary culture and arts. Different beat each time. Totally voluntary, just a chance to digest good writing that provokes us to share perspectives, and listen to each other. Details to follow.

"Everybody was feeling happy now. The sun was shining brightly out of a soft blue sky and the day was calm. The giant peach, with the sunlight glinting on its side, was a massive golden ball sailing upon a silver sea."

-Roald Dahl

STEM Opportunities

Student Employment Opportunity: Lab assistant

Looking to work in a lab but have never been in a research lab before? We are looking to hire an undergraduate student lab assistant to help out with animal facility tasks such as prepping cages and equipment, and assisting with colony management. There is potential for increasing responsibility and involvement with research projects. We are a microbiology-immunology lab on the medical school campus. Approximate working hours is 10-hrs per week. No previous lab experience is required. Please contact Mytien Nguyen, Mytien.nguyen@yale.edu with any questions. Job ID: 23715.

Student Employment Opportunity: Undergraduate Research Assistant, STEM Education Team, Yale Poorvu Center for Teaching and Learning

The Yale Poorvu Center for Teaching and Learning is seeking a motivated undergraduate Research Assistant to help our vibrant STEM Team during the Fall of 2019. The STEM Education Team leads national faculty development initiatives that promote excellence in undergraduate STEM Education such as the Summer Institutes on Scientific Teaching (summerinstitutes.org). The Research Assistant will work closely with the STEM team to maintain the accuracy and integrity of the Summer Institutes data, manage routine website maintenance, and more, with the potential to contribute to ongoing research projects. The Research Assistant will receive training in a range of skills and programs relating to data management, STEM education, and evaluation. Learn more about the responsibilities: <http://tinyurl.com/poorvuresearchassistant>

October 1st to Apply for Center for Language Study's DILS and Fields Programs

The Yale Center for Language Study is now accepting applications for spring semester study for its Fields Program and its Directed Independent Language Study (DILS) Program. The deadline for applying to either program for spring semester study is October 1st.

The Directed Independent Language Study (DILS) Program gives students the opportunity to study a language that is not currently taught in a Yale classroom.

The Fields Program gives students the opportunity to pursue advanced-level language study within the context of their academic area of focus (generally in areas other literature if the language is taught at Yale, since advanced coursework in literature would likely be available).

Both are non-credit programs, open to all registered Yale students (undergraduate, graduate and professional). In each program, students work with a Language Partner—a native speaker of the target language (not a formal instructor)—in two 1-hour sessions for 12 weeks. The sessions aim to develop linguistic and cultural competence through active conversation and practice of what you are studying independently. With a limited number of slots available, a selection committee reviews all applications for their merit and appropriateness, and notifies students of its decisions within four to six weeks after the application deadline.

Details on each program and how to apply can be found at these links:

Directed Independent Language Study (DILS):

<https://cls.yale.edu/dils>

Fields Program:

<https://cls.yale.edu/fields>

Please note that all applications must be received by the application deadline (this includes applications for continued study from current DILS or Fields students).

Yale Degree Audit

Yale Degree Audit (YDA) is a tool that tracks your progress toward the bachelor's degree.

YDA is located on the Academics tab of Student Information System (SIS). YDA displays the Yale College degree requirements that you have already completed and those that are still pending. A "Look Ahead" feature shows you how future course enrollment might apply toward your degree. Yale Degree Audit does not take the place of face-to-face advising, although you may wish to share your audit with your adviser. Instead, it provides an easy-to-read summary of requirements, allowing you and your adviser to spend more time discussing course selection and academic goals.

Do not rely solely on your degree audit when planning your courses; continue to use Yale's standard systems for schedule planning and employ YDA as an additional tool. More features will be added to YDA in the future, including the ability to track progress toward major requirements.

If you have suggestions, general observations, or questions that are not answered by the FAQs, send them to registrar@yale.edu using the subject line "Degree Audit." If you believe that academic information in your degree audit is incorrect, contact our office.
