Franklinites,

I was a tad disappointed to stay up past my bedtime only to see “Get Out” lose out to the fishmonster movie, though I’ve heard it’s really good. But happy Jordan Peele got screenwriter, and Frances McDormand – I just have to say that any woman who can rock the Oscars without lipstick is a demi-goddess, at least.

I know this is a stressful stretch for many, trying to get out of the building to warmer climes and other projects with tests taken and coursework finished off. There’s a temptation to self-flog and go relentlessly hard on yourself. The pace of Yale may wear at times, but the content changes you. Sometimes imperceptibly at first. Allow it to seep in, that moment in class where your mind cracks open and you see the world align in a new way. The moment your friend says something about what she did today and all of a sudden you understand your own pursuits in an entirely new way. That’s the good stuff. Don’t let the busyness obscure the reasons for it in the first place.

Almost to spring break. Be kind.

-Dean Hill

I think we are well advised to keep on nodding terms with the people we used to be, whether we find them attractive company or not. Otherwise they turn up unannounced and surprise us, come hammering on the mind’s door at 4 a.m. of a bad night and demand to know who deserted them, who betrayed them, who is going to make amends.

SPLASH AT YALE

Splash at Yale is a one-day program where Yale students teach a wide range of courses to middle and high school students from the New England area. Splash is a large program with approximately 1,000 students attending, and we need teachers!

Our Spring Splash program will be on Saturday, April 7. All of the classes are taught by Yale students and cover a range of topics from cooking to mathematics. Some of our previous classes include: The Geography of Happiness, The Lyrics of Bob Dylan, Love Poetry, Epigenetics, and An Introduction to Skepticism.

Splash is a great opportunity for students who are looking to get involved with teaching or just want to share their passion for a particular topic. We welcome all teachers — regardless of prior experience — and we are happy to work with you throughout the teaching process, from brainstorming ideas to making a lesson plan. Teaching for Splash is a small time commitment but has a huge impact on our students!

If you’re not interested in teaching, we would love to have you as a day-of volunteer! Splash is a great way to be involved with the community as we serve students from New Haven as well as all over New England. We offer a variety of tasks with varying levels of engagement with students — volunteers can meet parents and students during sign-in or lunch, help keep our students safe while walking in between classes, or do homework while being a friendly face! (We have free food & swag) Sign up here.

We’ll be extending the teacher registration deadline until March 7, and you can register here.
